DELMAR CAR ON TEMPORARY TRACK IN FAIRFAX AVENUE.

Hundreds of persons who found it necessary to take Page or Delmar cars, east-bound, yesterday, were amazed to find a term of anxious waiting, and went south to Fairfax and found their cars running as cheerily as ever.

The trouble was that a new set of rails is being laid on Finney avenue, where the street cars pass, and so the Fage and Delmar cars have to be rerouted to Finney to Fairfax avenue, and back

The Page and Delmar cars turn off at Taylor cross and go down to Page, on which avenue a temporary track had been laid. In this manner a detour to the Vandeventer avenue, where the cars again stop, is made. Finally, and so continue the trip downtown.

The westbound track on Finney avenue is still intact, so that the westbound cars falling rate in the middle of the night. One woman said yesterday:

"It is something awful, the noise those men have been making. Right in the middle of the night, I hear a loud crash as the laborers throw down a rail. They are not a bit particular how noisy they are and the people in the neighborhoods have been terribly annoyed. I have heard them make such a noise."

There are no decisions as to what effect re-

Those who usually catch the Page or Delmar car in the blocks where the new tracks are being laid went in vain yesterday for the appearance of their cars. Many of these people "got wise," after a tuesday morning and the carmen say it will be several days before the people will get used to the new order of things, particularly going down strange streets without thinking they are on the wrong car.
